1. INTRODUCTION

This policy has been approved by the Board of Directors ("Board") of Tam Capital ("Company"). It represents an enforceable document relating to Company policies.

This policy serves as a guideline for Corporate Finance department with respect to provision of arranging services to clients. The primary aim of the policy is to:

- Establish and strengthen the consistency and transparency of arranging services provided by the Company as well as to ensure compliance with applicable regulatory and statutory pronouncements.
- Ensure arranging services are carried out with utmost professionalism while maintaining high standards of quality for the clients and all other stakeholders.

Arranging services essentially include introducing parties in relation to offering of securities, arrangement of its underwriting, advising on corporate finance business or otherwise acting to bring about a deal in a security.

2. REFERENCE TO OTHER DOCUMENTS

The policy may be read in conjunction with following regulations and internal documents:

- Capital Market Law
- Capital Market Institutions Regulations
- Securities Business Regulations
- Tadawul Listing Rules
- Rules on the Offer of Securities and Continuing Obligations
- Market Conduct Regulations
- Other relevant documents

3. POLICY STATEMENTS

3.1 Confidentiality & Non-disclosure

It is the Company's policy to maintain complete confidentiality with respect to client information obtained for provision of services. Prior to providing the Company with the required information to assess potential transactions, prospective clients or other external stakeholders, including financial advisors and third-party consultants, may request the Company to sign a non-disclosure agreement ("NDA"), in order to protect sensitive information and mitigate any unforeseen risks. NDAs, whether prepared internally of by the client, in order to receive information from potential clients or other stakeholders on prospective arranging services' mandates must be signed in accordance with the Delegation of Authority Matrix.

Similarly, the Company may request external stakeholders, including clients, investors or third-party advisors, to sign NDAs prior to providing these stakeholders with required information relating to potential or existing clients or mandates. Such NDAs, whether prepared internally by the Corporate Finance department or externally by the client, must be signed in accordance with the Delegation of Authority Matrix.

The NDAs which are prepared internally must be in accordance with the latest template approved by the Company management. New NDAs which are prepared by the prospective client must also be reviewed to ensure adequacy.

3.2 Name clearance approval

Prior to engaging with any prospective client, a name clearance memo must be prepared by the Corporate Finance department. The main objective of this approval is to address any reputation risk of engaging with the prospective client. Name clearance for clients shall have a validity period of 24 months unless circumstances have come to notice that would materially affect the client's position, the engagement or the Company's reputation, etc.

The name clearance memo must contain sufficient level of information on the client and potential transaction, including, but not limited to, a brief background on the client, key financial highlights, market data, transaction details, key risk factors and CEO recommendation. The memo shall be sent to the Executive Committee of the Company and an approval shall be taken before moving forward on the engagement with the prospective client.

A name clearance memo must be provided for all prospective mandates/transactions.

3.3 Engagement Proposal

Upon obtaining name clearance on the prospective client, the Company's Corporate Finance department must send across the proposal to provide arranging services to the client.

The proposal shall highlight crucial information on the transaction such as the proposed scope of work, project timelines and proposed fees. It shall also include relevant information on the Company's credentials in relation to details on the team which will work on the proposed mandate.

Proposals are non-binding documents which are shared with prospective clients for information purposes, mainly to decide on appointment of the Company for the respective transaction. There is no obligation on Tam Capital to fulfil any of the duties set out in the proposal. As such, the proposal can be cancelled at the discretion of the Company's management at any time unless engagement letter has been signed off.

3.4 Know Your Customer (KYC)

Upon acceptance of the proposal by the client, and prior to official engagement through countersignature of the Engagement Letter, the client must fulfil all requirements as per the Know Your Customer" ("KYC") policy of the Company with respect to arranging services. This policy ensures that all relevant and required information on the client has been extracted, shared with the Compliance Department and assessed against relevant regulatory requirements and internal policies.

Details to be received from the client include, but are not limited to, the completed and signed corporate information document and relevant documentation such as the copy of the company's Commercial Registration, Articles of Association and identification of the company's CEO and board members.

3.5 Engagement Letter

Following all required approvals, the Engagement Letter can be countersigned by the Company and the client.

The Engagement Letter details the scope of work relating to the transaction, fees involved and transaction terms and conditions.

The Engagement Letter must be signed and stamped by the CEO and the client's authorized signatory and will be archived in the Company database. A copy of the countersigned EL must be available with both the client and the Company.

3.6 CMA file submission

Depending on the transaction, CMA files must comply with the relevant CMA regulations relating to the mandate and must include all required annexures and other required documentation (e.g. cover letters, offering circulars, supplements to offering circulars, prospectus, annexes, etc.). The CMA file will be submitted in accordance with the timeline and project plan set out by the Corporate Finance Division and communicated with the client.

3.7 Client billing

All clients must be billed in accordance with the terms and conditions relating to fees and expenses as set out in the Engagement Letter. Fees are determined based on a number of various factors including transaction size, transaction type, market prices and market conditions. As such, all fees are discretionary and are determined on a case-by-case basis. For any suspension/ deferral of fees throughout completion of a transaction, written approval must be obtained from the CEO. Any amendments relating to previously agreed fees, as per the countersigned Engagement Letter, shall require CEO approval.

Arranging services billing must be coordinated with the Finance Department which, as advised by the Corporate Finance department, shall prepare the required VAT invoice along with the fee letter. VAT invoices must include VAT registration details for both the client and the Company whilst the fee letter must include the Company's relevant bank account details.

3.8 Corporate Finance Department Operational Procedures

The Corporate Finance Department Operational Procedures shall serve as a guideline for various functions carried out whilst providing arranging services. The procedures undertake and cover mainly operational procedures for activities undertaken by the Corporate Finance department. These procedures shall be approved by the CEO and represents an enforceable document of the Company.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES

4.1 Executive Committee

The main responsibility of the Executive Committee over the Corporate Finance activities includes approval of name clearance and related transactions/mandates, as required. The Committee shall analyze the risk and returns related to the transactions/mandates and approve the same accordingly.

4.2 Chief Executive Officer

The CEO oversees the Corporate Finance department through direct reporting from the Head of Corporate Finance. The CEO supports the activities of the department, including but not limited to, identifying new opportunities, sourcing clients and approaching investors.
